BUREAU OF ETHNOLOGY

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT PL. 1048

THE GHOST DANCE—SMALL CIRCLE

Materials

in the Federal Depository Libraries of Oklahoma

About the cover drawing: “The Ghost Dance–Small Circle” is taken from page 920 of The Ghost Dance Religion and the Sioux Outbreak of 1890 by James Mooney (found in the Fourteenth Annual Report of the Bureau of American Ethnology, 1892-93, published in 1896). The Arapaho, Cheyenne, Caddo, Wichita, Pawnee, Otoe, and other tribes in Oklahoma performed the Ghost Dance.

Other illustrations used in this document are also from this report.

About the title page illustration: An embossed likeness of Sac and Fox Chief Keokuk (c. 1780–1848) graced the covers of the Bureau of American Ethnology’s Annual Reports for 40 years, from the first edition (1879-80), through the 1930-31 edition.

The Federal Depository Libraries of Oklahoma

The nineteen federal depository libraries of Oklahoma receive publications from federal agencies and provide access to information from federal websites. Access to the depository materials listed in this directory is, by federal and state law, open to the public. Many of these publications can either be borrowed from the libraries directly, or through the interlibrary-loan services that libraries provide for their customers.

This is a short-format listing of the federal depository libraries of our state. For more information about each depository go to www.odl.state.ok.us/usinfo/usdepsys.htm

Special Collections within Libraries

(physical and virtual)

You may find material in the following collections that you will not find in the categories listed above.

Northeastern State University

Special Collections

Website: library.nsuok.edu/Spc/index.html

Contains a wide variety of materials relating to the history and culture of the American Indians. Covers tribes throughout the U.S. and Oklahoma tribes, particularly those in the northeastern Oklahoma region. Special emphasis is placed on the Five Civilized Tribes, especially the Cherokees. Also houses American Indian language materials, almanacs, hymnals, books of the Old and New Testaments, and dictionaries. Local newspapers, maps, autographed books, and an extensive vertical file covering the era of Indian Territory, American Indian topics, and people and places is also available. A unique video collection (1975-2002) of the annual Symposium on the American Indian is also available at this collection.

Oklahoma Department of Libraries

Oklahoma Collection

Contains material on all Oklahoma tribes, works by Native American Oklahoma authors, and American Indian language materials. Also includes periodicals, newspapers, newsletters, histories, biographies, and encyclopedias with emphasis on Oklahoma and the southwest. Vertical file includes Native American materials and biographical information.

Southeastern Oklahoma State University Library

Native American Collection

Currently has about 2,500 items, including materials related to Indians of all the Americas with a focus on the tribes of the U.S. Includes dictionaries, encyclopedias, videotapes, and works by American Indian authors.

Tulsa City-County Library

American Indian Collection

Website: www.tulsalibrary.org/collections/aic/aic.htm

Currently has more than 6,300 books and media materials by and about American Indians. It also hosts educational and cultural events celebrating American Indians, and gives an annual award to an American Indian author who has made a significant contribution to contemporary literature (the first such award given to American Indian authors by a public library).

University of Oklahoma Law Library

Native American Constitution and Law Digitization Project

Website: thorpe.ou.edu/

This is a cooperative effort of the University of Oklahoma Law Library, the National Indian Law Library, and Indian tribes to provide access to constitutions, tribal codes, and other legal documents. It currently includes such materials (including some listed above) as tribal codes, charters, and constitutions, the Supreme Court Review, Cohen's Handbook of Federal Indian Law, and Opinions of the Solicitor General.

Native People's Collection

Currently has more than 5,000 sources in paper, microforms, videos, and CD-ROMs. Officially known as the Strickland Memorial Indian Law Collection. Has statutes and codes, cases reporters and digests, law reviews and periodicals, newsletters and newspapers, bibliographies, encyclopedias and directories, biographies, and histories.

University of Tulsa Law Library

Indigenous People's Collection

There are over 1,000 titles in this collection, which focuses on secondary sources such as legal treatises and analyses. It also contains such microfiche collections as the U.S. Executive Branch Documents (1789-1909), has extensive American Indian videos, and a full-time librarian who specializes in American Indian legal materials.

Native American Law Collection

Contains primary sources such as treaties, tribal codes (including the Cherokee Code Annotated, Navajo Nation Code, and the Mille Lacs Statutes Annotated), constitutions, and tribal case law (including Official Reports of Cases Argued and Decided in the Supreme Court and the Southwest Intertribal Court of Appeals Reporter).
